

TECHNICAL DATA

The "heart" of the game is a 23K BASIC program, working together with a 1.5K m/code data block, a redefined character set and three multi-loading m/code files containing graphics and music. By loading order, you'll find:

- "Hollywood": a 595 bytes BASIC loader, that sets the RAMTOP (address 49000), loads the presentation graphics and the refined character set and then runs the presentation;
- "Code 0": a 11500 bytes m/code file containing the 8 presentation screens;
- "Chars": a 768 byte redefined character set;
- "Vars Code": a 1501 bytes data block that contains all data about actors (fame, glamour, dramatic value, and so on);
- "Main Prog": the program itself; it occupies 22950 bytes (5871 being variables and 17079 being the BASIC listing);
- "Code 1": Part One's 8 screens and tune (12850 bytes);
- "Code 2": Part Two's 8 screens (14015 bytes);
- "Code 3": Part Three's 6 screens and 3 tunes (11150 bytes);

OTHER POINTS:

- the RAMTOP can be lowered about 2K maximum, if needed be;
- the game isn't protected (either from breaking-in or copying), because we aren't very familiar with software protection techniques;
- the tunes were made with Melbourne House's WHAM!, and the graphics were drawn with OCP's ART STUDIO and compiled with Softek's SCREEN COMPRESSOR.
